ABOUT DEPARTMENT

The department of Anatomy in Dayanand Medical College and Hospital teaches one hundred students of MBBS, hundred Nursing students and also students of various paramedical courses.

The department presently has a professional team of seven faculty members and supported by technical team. The young and enthusiastic team is facilitating medical education by using innovative teaching methodologies to make the subject interesting to motivate students.

The department has an air-conditioned dissection hall which can accommodate upto one hundred and fifty students. Computer assisted learning with advanced software helps them in understanding human anatomy better. The histology lab can accommodate one hundred students. The histology preparation lab has fully automated processing machine to make slides. The lecture theatre of the department is air-conditioned and equipped with latest audiovisual aids & multimedia. The museum of the department is one of the best museums of the country with a wall mounted viewing gallery for radiology. Our research lab has digital microscopes with latest software for advanced research purposes.

The department has been running the body donor programme for last sixteen years. All the cadavers in the department are donated voluntarily which speaks about the success of this programme. To keep the bodies, the department has walk-in mortuary refrigeration room, which can freeze cadavers up to -30°C of temperature.

WELCOME MESSAGE

Dear SOCA colleagues

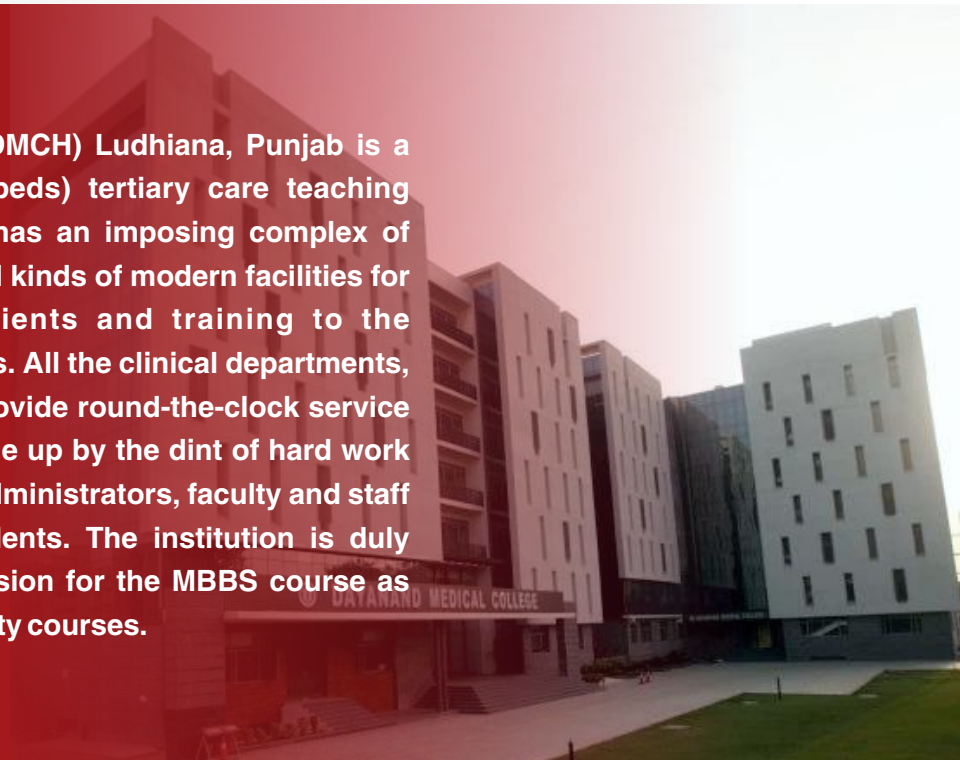

The 11th National Conference of SOCA is arriving in the Manchester city of India, Ludhiana. DMC&H is ecstatic to welcome all SOCA members. Anatomy is a field which is the foundation of constantly evolving procedures in surgery. The theme of PRECONFERENCE workshop has been chosen to cater this need. The transclavicular approach to cervicothoracic junction will be discussed in the workshop. The unmissable programme has been meticulously planned to provide an enriching academic feast for Faculty, Post Graduate & Student. The SOCA conference is best platform to showcase the latest research through oral & poster presentations. The presence of renowned international & national speakers will be the highlight of the conference. The two days conference “Research in Anatomical Sciences” will also give you a fantastic opportunity to network with anatomists and broaden your experience. Ludhiana is a bustling city, primarily famous for its hosiery goods, because of which it is a heaven for shopaholics.

ABOUT SOCA

The responsibility of Scientific and artistic temperament to be infused in young medical graduates falls on the shoulder of torch bearers of Anatomy. In today's world which creates new milestones every second in the field of scientific development, teaching anatomy is not restricted to the walls of Lecture theatre and dissection halls. The Society of Clinical Anatomists (SOCA) is dedicated to explore and further advance the knowledge in the field of clinical based Anatomy. The SOCA aims to achieve its objective “To Promote professional development and to foster exchange of ideas among clinical anatomists and clinicians belonging to all fields of medicine.” through annual conferences, various CME programs and publication of its own quarterly published Journal - National journal of Clinical Anatomy (NJCA). The society is registered under TN societies registration act 1975 bearing the regn. number 168/2011.
